

WH Ireland Group Plc has a new look

WHI has recently re - vamped its brand and next time you log on to your account with us, via the website, it will look a little different.

Everything else you know and expect from us will remain the same – retail client stockbroking and wealth management remain core to our business and we will as always provide a first class service to our clients, with our relationships continuing to be based on trust, integrity and straightforward help and advice. However, there may be some things that you didn't know about WHI that we wanted to share with you:

- We can trace our history back to 1872 and have been providing professional investment advice ever since
- Our advice is independent and personal to you, no two financial solutions are the same
- Our regional presence is important to us and we will continue to offer clients a local presence with offices in the leading financial institutions across the UK
- In addition to retail client stockbroking, we have a national team of independent financial planners, able to give personal advice on a wide range of services from life assurance to pensions
- We also have a securities division, whose services include capital raising, Mergers & Acquisitions , strategic and tactical advice, institutional sales and corporate finance who have been nominated advisors since 1995 to 55 Aim (Alternative Investment Market) listed companies

For more details of all of these services and information on how you can access them, please visit our new website on www.wh-ireland.co.uk or contact your Investment Manager.
